

NovaTech Solutions — General Company Policies

Information Security

Employees must protect company information and must not share confidential credentials, private customer data, or internal documents with unauthorized persons.

Acceptable Technology Use

Company systems should primarily be used for legitimate business activities. Employees must not intentionally install malicious software or bypass security controls.

Remote Work

Employees working remotely are responsible for maintaining a secure working environment. Company systems should be accessed through approved devices and security controls.

Policy Questions

Questions about company-wide policies should be directed to Human Resources or the relevant department owner.
